KCHS Families,

I am very excited to turn the calendar from January to February. Although January has been a productive month at KCHS, escaping the cold and dark days that are typical of the first month of the year will feel like a relief. Just be prepared, because the school year will move by much faster than any of us can believe from this point on! Read on for highlights and reminders for February. Go Eagles!

Practice SAT Day for Juniors - February 11th

We are excited to announce that all juniors will participate in a full-length practice SAT on Tuesday, February 11th. This event is a valuable opportunity for students to familiarize themselves with the SAT format, practice test-taking strategies, and identify areas for improvement ahead of the official exam. It is essential that all juniors, including those who typically attend KCTC and/or GRCC, attend this important practice session. The test will begin promptly at 8:00 am and run through the morning, simulating the actual testing experience.

To celebrate their hard work, we will host a pizza party immediately following the practice test! This will give students a chance to relax and recharge while socializing with their classmates. Please encourage your student to take advantage of this opportunity to prepare for the SAT and set themselves up for success in the college admissions process. If you have any questions about the practice test day, feel free to contact the school office.

Mission, Vision, Values

At KCHS, our commitment to excellence remains at the heart of everything we do. We hold high expectations for all students, believing that every learner is capable of achieving success when challenged with rigorous coursework and supported by a dedicated school community. Our goal is not just to prepare students for graduation but to equip them with the critical thinking skills, perseverance, and adaptability necessary for life beyond high school. As we move through this fast-paced second semester, we encourage parents to stay involved—monitoring academic progress, reinforcing positive study habits, and ensuring students maintain a healthy balance between school, activities, and rest.

GREAT Expectations

At KCHS, we strive to create a school environment where all students feel valued, respected, and included. A key part of this is fostering a culture of trust—trust between students, staff, and the entire school community. Being trustworthy means acting with honesty, taking responsibility for one’s actions, and making choices that reflect integrity. Whether it’s completing assignments independently, following school policies, or being a reliable friend, we expect our students to demonstrate trustworthiness in all aspects of their school experience. Parents can support this expectation by having conversations at home about the importance of honesty and accountability. When students understand that trust is built through consistent, responsible actions, they develop character traits that will serve them well beyond high school.
